DEPOSITORY LIBRARY COUNCIL MEETING: FALL, 1986

Public reaction to the Fall meeting of the Depository Library Council is far beyond all expectations. Pre-registrations approach the 150 mark, with requests continuing to arrive daily. A record attendance is expected.

DLC Chair Diane Smith has developed an agenda, which appears elsewhere in this issue of Administrative Notes. Speakers include Bonnie Carroll from the Department of Energy in Oak Ridge, TN; Susan Jurow from the Association of Research Libraries; Michael J. Cannon, GPO's comptroller; Mitchell Phalen, chief of the GPO Documents Technical Support Group; Charles Bennett and Richard Kleckner from the USGS; James Lusby from the Defense Mapping Agency; Bernadine Hoduski and Anthony Zagami from the JCP; Charles McKeown, director of marketing for GPO; and Kathleen Eisenbeis, Clyde Hordusky and Susan Tulis of the DLC.

The special Commemorative Program honoring GPO's 125th anniversary, to be held at the Library of Congress, will highlight the relationship between the two agencies. Speakers will include Daniel J. Boorstin, Librarian of Congress; Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, chairman of the Joint Committee on Printing; Cong. Frank Annunzio, vice chairman of the JCP, Public Printer Ralph E. Kennickell, Jr.; John Y. Cole, executive director of the Center for the Book of the Library of Congress; Dana J. Pratt, director of publishing for LC; and Dan MacGilvray, historian/curator of the GPO. An extraordinary exhibit is planned and a sumptuous reception will follow the program.

Tours are planned for the GPO Library Programs Service as well as for the Library of Congress optical disc and general operations.

Council Chair, Diane Smith, and Superintendent of Documents, Don Fossedal, encourage those who have published papers this past year to bring sufficient copies to be displayed at the conference. The GPO and LC will not be able to reproduce additional copies.

Remember, the opening meeting will be at the GPO on October 15. The Program, reception and final two days of the meetings will be in the Madison Building at First St. and Independence Ave. SE, just south of the main LC Building.

Council meeting attendees who would like to join informal groups to go to dinner, on Tuesday, October 14, should assemble in the lobby of the Holiday Inn-Capitol at 6:00 p.m.

TWO KEY APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

LPS is pleased to announce that Mr. Gil Baldwin has been selected as Chief of the Classification and Cataloging Branch, effective September 15, 1986. Gil is a veteran of the Documents scene, having originally joined the GPO Library Division as a cataloger in 1974. From 1981-1985 he served as a Cataloging Section Chief, and was instrumental in the development of the USGS/DMA map depository project. For the past year, Gil has been an analyst with the GPO Documents Technical Support Group, where he completed the Monthly Catalog user survey and acted as the LPS budget liaison. A graduate of the College of William and Mary, he received his MLS from Florida State University, and has done some additional graduate work at the Catholic University. Gil is a new father, as he and his wife Bonnie celebrated the birth of their first child, Daniel, in December, 1985. We welcome Gil and his expertise in documents back to LPS.

A second recent appointment is that of Mr. Frank Tansey, Jr. to the position of Chief of Cataloging Section 2, effective August 3, 1986. Frank comes from a cataloging background and has handled many special GPO projects, including organizing the cataloging working collection, and helping to coordinate the LPS' successful move to D.C. from Alexandria, Va. Prior to joining GPO, Frank worked as the Evening Supervisor at Seton Hall University, McLaughlin Library, South Orange, N.J.; he earned his library degree at the Pratt Institute Graduate School of Library and Information Science. At the present time Frank and his wife, the former Joan Stamas, are actively encouraging their 2 1/2 year old daughter Diane to read.

RETENTION OF REPRINTS

The following information, which originally appeared in the October 1985 issue of Ad Notes (Vol. 6, No. 14, pp. 6-7), is being provided in order to restate GPO's policy on retention of reprints:

[The March 1985 Council] Recommendation 7 [that articles reprinted from previously distributed depository publications be considered separate documents and handled as superseded documents] offers a good, practical approach in terms of handling reprints as superseded documents. Following this approach, GPO will continue to classify the reprints, list them in Monthly Catalog, and distribute them under existing item numbers. However, depository librarians will now have the flexibility to handle reprints in the way that is best suited to local library operations and user needs. For example, reprints may be routed for "current awareness" purposes, entered into a vertical file, or simply treated as superseded documents. Depositories are not obliged to maintain a shelflist, catalog, or to otherwise keep records on superseded documents.

DEPOSITORY LIBRARY CONCERNS

Attention Depository Librarians: Items of concern which you wish to be discussed at the Depository Library Council meeting should be communicated to a member of Council (see list of members in this issue). Please include any supporting documentation or examples which you have in describing your concerns to the Council Member.

SURVEY 86-4 CANCELLED

The item number 0619-G-29 on Survey 86-4 has been inactivated following cancellation after the survey of the incorrect class I 19.80/2:. The correct class and other information for this title is as it appears in the List of Classes: I 19.71:, National Cartographic Information Center: Newsletter (quarterly) (P), (Item) 0624-E.

CHANGE IN DOE MICROFICHE HEADERS

The Department of Energy's Office of Scientific and Technical Information (OSTI) will begin phasing out the EDB subject category number from the DOE microfiche header beginning October 1, 1986. This decision was made to allow for more timely and economical DOE report processing and dissemination. DOE is hopeful that the DOE microfiche user community will greatly benefit from the processing change.

CONGRESSIONAL SERIAL SET SUPPLEMENT, 1981-1982

Documents Sales Service has received many inquiries in the past about the availability of the Monthly Catalog of U.S. Government Publications, Congressional Serial Set, Supplement #1091, 1981-1982. We are pleased to announce that copies are still available for sale by the Superintendent of Documents. Stock number 721-003-00006-0, Price $17.00 Domestic; $21.25 Foreign.

LIST OF COMMITTEE HEARINGS, COMMITTEE PRINTS AND PUBLICATIONS OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE (Cumulative Edition)

This microfiche edition cumulates all of the Senate listings that have been published "piecemeal" as appendices to past issues of Administrative Notes, beginning with Vol. 4, no. 17. Since all depository libraries receive Administrative Notes, the microfiche cumulation is being distributed to all depositories.

This microfiche cumulation is assigned SuDocs class number Y 1.3/10:983-84 and item number 0556-C.

READERS EXCHANGE

BIBLIOGRAPHIC INSTRUCTION REVISITED

An effort to breathe some life, flexibility, and spirit into our basic bibliographic instruction programs for liberal arts undergraduates, who need to or should use government publications, has resulted in a synchronized slide/tape program for Andrews Library. Using student employees of the Government Publications Department as our on-camera guides, this 18-minute program leads the viewer on a personalized tour of the five basic tools used to access our collection. That we have produced yet another slide/tape is not in itself unusual. What is unusual is the method of its production.

The goals of bibliographic instruction are often thwarted by poor media materials. The assumption that such goals can be realized through close-up photographs of reference books matched with didactic narration is fallacious. While this sort of format might be an effective way of packaging an oft-repeated live presentation, it doesn't guarantee that the information being presented will be retained by the viewer. Educational philosopher John Dewey postulated that, in order to learn, the student must be made to see the relationship between the material and his/her self interest. In the Kent State University dissertation, Educational Television Production: A Deweyan Perspective, James V. Paluzzi suggests a method of adapting Dewey's ideas to the production of educational media presentations. Although his paper focused on television production, we found his method to be relevant to the creation of slide/tape programs.

The first step was to videotape our students as they conducted sample information searches on several hot topics. Camera and microphone cords trailed between index tables and stacks as we captured the details of the seek and find process in a completely naturalistic way, including the mutterings, nervous gestures, laughs and candid comments of our willing amateur stars. No advance coaching or scripting took place; these sessions were to simulate real situations as closely as possible. Ninety minutes of raw footage were condensed to 25 and reviewed for content and accuracy. Then, one by one, our students were shown the video tape and asked to describe the actions taking place on the television screen. Their off-the-cuff commentary was audio-recorded and became the raw material for our eventual soundtrack. The audio tapes were edited, brightened-up with some background music and checked again for clarity and omissions.

Our final task was to shoot the slides that would eventually be synchronized with the polished soundtrack. Following the stylistic lead of the commentary, the pictures were shot as a series of informal views of the students, faculty members and staff on their searches, mixed in with more traditional close-ups of specific tools and citations. The audio and visual elements of the presentation were then combined using commonly available synchronization equipment.

The resulting slide/tape program is a spontaneous, natural and unrehearsed explanation of the bibliographic search process for government publications---one which we believe can be easily incorporated into our basic introductory sessions or into general library orientation sessions. Our goal is to continue to make the Government Publications Department more inviting and its yet uncataloged SuDocs-ordered collection less mysterious and overwhelming. Because of the program's short length, the remainder of a fifty-minute class period can be used to field questions or cover course-related bibliography and other indexing tools.

Why did we use video tape for our original photography, only to shift to slides for the finished product? Quite simply, it was a matter of necessity and convenience. Our presentations are often made in remote classrooms on campus where it is easier to set-up a slide projector. As video projection devices improve in quality and lower in price, we look forward to making more use of video tape in the classroom. But, whatever the medium, we plan to keep our "canned" presentations as fresh as possible.

USGS AND DMA MAP SHIPPING LISTS

Effective with USGS map shipments postmarked August 14, 1986, the USGS has begun producing and distributing its own depository shipping lists. Prior to that date LPS had compiled and distributed depository shipping lists for USGS maps. Since USGS map shipping lists are no longer available from GPO, depositories should contact the following source to request a shipping list that had not been enclosed in a USGS map shipment:

Chief, Product Policy Distribution Office
U.S. Geological Survey
National Mapping Division, MS 508
12201 Sunrise Valley Drive
Reston, VA 22092

or telephone Mr. Charles Bennett at: (703) 648-5778.

DMA is not yet ready to commence production of its own shipping lists, so LPS continues to perform that function. When DMA is ready to assume responsibility for producing its own shipping lists, the turnover date will be announced in AdNotes.

PUBLIC PRINTER MAKES DEPOSITORY LIBRARY COUNCIL APPOINTMENTS

The Public Printer of the United States, Ralph E. Kennickell, Jr., has named five members to the Depository Library Council to the Public Printer. They are: Dr. Dennis W. Dickinson, Director of Libraries, Beloit College, Beloit, WI; Anthony L. Harvey, Senior Analyst for the U.S. Senate Rules and Administration Committee and Clerk to the Joint Committee on the Library; Elizabeth A. Lang, Documents Librarian/Archivist, I.D. Weeks Library, University of South Dakota, Vermillion, SD; Vicki W. Phillips, Head, Documents Department, Oklahoma State University Library, Stillwater, OK; and Paul W. Thurston, Head, Government Publications, Wyoming State Library, Cheyenne, WY.

The Depository Library Council consists of 15 members of the library community who serve for a term of 3 years. The Council members, all appointed by the Public Printer, advise the chief executive of the U.S. Government Printing Office on matters relating to classification, distribution, cataloging, indexing, storage, availability, and utilization of depository material and general administration of the Depository Library Program.

The Depository Library Program, which has over 1,390 designated libraries throughout the country, makes publications from the Federal Government available for the free use of the general public.

In announcing the appointments, Public Printer Kennickell said, "I look forward to meeting with these new Council members and benefitting from their expertise. It has been my experience that our members demonstrate a level of professionalism which is a tribute to their field as a whole. I am certain that these new appointees will fall into that same category of ability and that they will help in our ongoing effort to make the American public aware of the information available to it from our Federal Government."

PUBLICATIONS REFERENCE FILE

Two small changes have occurred on the GPO Sales Publications Reference File (PRF) within the last month. The first of these involves a change of tag. The Superintendent of Documents Classification Number, which used to appear in a field marked "CATALOG NO" will now appear in the more appropriately titled "CLASS NO" field.

The second change involves the addition of a "publication date" to PRF records. The "publication date" (or "PUB DATE" as it will actually appear on the output products), marks the first day on which a GPO sales item became available for retail purchase. It will be added to records only the first time they come into stock and will not change. GPO sales items which first become available for public purchase on or after August 19, 1986 will have a "publication date;" most older sales items will not.

Look for both "CLASS NO" and "PUB DATE" to appear on the PRF microfiche. Only "PUB DATE" will be new on the PRF File 166 records of DIALOG. There will be no change to the unlabelled Superintendent of Documents Classification Number field on DIALOG.

Below is a sample PRF microfiche record as it will look with the new changes:

DOCUMENTS SALES PROGRAM...

has an official 'LOGO'. Charles McKeown, the Director of Marketing, designed the logo and received approval for its use from the Public Printer and the Assistant Public Printer (Superintendent of Documents). This Logo will become the identifying symbol of the Sales Program including the GPO Bookstore Program. A variation of the logo will be included in the design of all bookstore marketing materials.

MORTGAGE COMPANIES...

were advised by the Department of Housing and Urban Development that HUD Mortgage Insurance Forms can now be purchased from the Government Printing Office by writing to the Washington, D.C. office, or by visiting one of our Government Bookstores. Direct Mail Manager June Malina is also sending copies of the attached letter and order form to 20,000 banking institutions nationwide.

Several bookstore managers quickly notified the mortgage companies in their areas of the availability of the forms from their stores. Some of the managers known to have initiated immediate action are: Ann Owenby of Atlanta, Vickie Batzka of Jacksonville, LaRue Welch of Houston, and Roberta Crowley of Boston. They obtained the company names and addresses via various sources, then produced and mailed letters to the companies. A noticeable increase in sales and inquiries have been reported.

All managers are encouraged to use this opportunity to promote both awareness of their stores and sales.

BOOKSTORE/LIBRARY COOPERATIVE...

efforts continue. Vickie Batzka, the Jacksonville Bookstore Manager, attended the Annual Florida Library Association Conference in Tampa. Vickie spoke to the librarians about Government documents and how to order them from the Jacksonville bookstore. She also offered assistance in ordering from Washington and distributed promotional materials. Several of the librarians have commented on Vickie's helpfulness and enthusiastic attitude toward promoting Government publications.

Chicago Bookstore Manager Vivian Searles provided an excellent article about the Government Bookstore Program to the Illinois State Library. It was featured in the May 1986 issue of the Illinois Libraries monthly publication. Janet Dickinson, the Federal Documents Coordinator of the Illinois State Library, said the contents provided useful information for all libraries and librarians who attempt to provide Government-generated information to their clientele.

PRICE LIST 36...

is now being shipped to the bookstores directly from the printer. This method of distribution began with the Summer 1986 edition.

of the Bookstore Locator Maps and Bookmarks have been printed and delivered to the bookstores. Many managers have used these items successfully as promotional tools by distributing them to libraries, area organizations, and at community events, etc.

THE PRODUCTION OF...

a new series of Sales television and radio public service announcements is underway. The contract was awarded to Silverman Production Company in Richmond, Virginia. Several television scripts have been written. The story boards are being created and will be presented to Messers., Fossedal and Kennickell for review in early September.

FAREWELL AND LOTS OF SUCCESS...

to Mary Lee O'Brien, our former Marketing Researcher. Mary Lee recently left the Government Printing Office to accept a challenging position with the Bechtel Corporation.

TIDBIT QUIZ...

Who served in the Superintendent of Documents position the longest?
(The answer will appear in the next Book Mark).

Answer to last TIDBIT...The recent tax revision bill items sold the most copies in one day. Records were broken on June 2, 1986, when the sales of the items reached nearly half a million dollars.
